

Welcome

Thank you for showing an interest in joining the finance team here at Bristol City Council. My name is Mike Pilcher and I am the Chief Accountant and deputy section 151 officer, responsible for accountancy, risk and insurance services.

It is such an exciting time to be working here in Bristol with the huge variety of services we provide and investments we are making. Our corporate strategy sets out the priorities for the Council which support the Bristol One City Plan, an ambitious vision for the future of Bristol over the next 30 years. Our Finance team are involved at the heart of all decision making, offering advice and support on best use of resources and key investments. Our current priorities range from supporting transformation of social care services and development of a region wide Integrated Care System with key NHS partners to economic regeneration projects such as local High Streets and the Temple Quarter area in the heart of the City. We are involved in work to help tackle the housing crisis through an innovative partnership with Bristol housing festival and also our plans to take action on climate change through the City Leap Energy Partnership to name just a few.

Whether you live locally or further afield we can offer flexible working arrangements to suit.

Working in local government finance is always challenging but also highly rewarding.

We are looking for ambitious enthusiastic individuals to join our team and if you have inspired by our job opportunities and work we are part of I look forward to hearing from you.

Mike Pilcher
